“ This picture shares the last night we had with Arnold, unfortunately our sweet boy fell ill two weeks before passing. His last moments were filled with warm cuddles and lots of love. Arnold was very tired from fighting his illness and passed peacefully in his sleep. The last moment I had with him was when I checked in on him and put my finger near his nose, he woke up and waddled right over to my hand and just fell right back to sleep. Arnold lived a great life and i hope his afterlife is just as spectacular and though it might be awhile I can't wait for us to meet again. Sweet dreams my sweet boy💚
