“Chance-- you were best friends to everyone you met. I understand now when they say dogs only stay as long as they are needed- you made a huge imprint on our hearts and took them with you. I will forever be in debt to all you taught me and the family and how you helped raise Sierra, Mavy and Cole. Your love, trust, care and impact are everywhere we look now. You are gone way to soon but your mark on this world will never be forgotten. I remember when we first met and you kissed me --- full of love from the first moment and you just trotted on up to us. Then when I asked you what name you wanted you went nuts and kissed me all over for Chance. You were our first baby of our own and you will always be with us. I can see you running off the dock and jumping over and over again and swimming around as Snowy is fishing. I know losing Snowy has been rough on you and I am happy you have each other again. Please send some love down to Marley because going forward will be so hard with you both gone now. Until we meet again boy! Love you and lots of hugs.

“ Truly one of a kind, man's best friend. So many wonderful memories had, but life was cut short for you. You will always be with us and never forgotten. We love you and will be with you forever. You have made some shoes that will be a challenge to fill. Love you boy! Mars will miss you more than you know.
