“ Kai and I shared birthdays on May 26th. My Mom and I drove up to Pleasantville Michigan in October of 2010 to pick him up at his breeder's home. He was the more outgoing little pup, and it was hard not to take both brothers home with us. He brought so much joy into our home. He enjoyed his monthly trips to Dirty Dog to get pampered and groomed by Butch, and loved his baths given by Ashley. They made an exception, and let me stay with him the whole time, and Dirty Dog was one big family to us for many years. That was his big adventure, seeing all his dog friends that belonged to the groomers there, and riding in my car.

His best bud was our German Shepherd, Wolfy, who always played patiently with her little brother. Years later when she died, Kai became a big brother to Mimi, who started out tinier than him, but got bigger fast. They never grew tired of each other's company. Mimi gave him a new lease on life, and I think that's what got him to stick around a few more years. When weather was at it's coldest this year, he still wanted to go outside and walk to the back of our yard, even it we had to run out, pick him up, and carry him back into the house. Bedlington Terriers were breed to get varmints, and Kai managed to catch a few unlucky young squirrels that crossed his path.

His last few hours were spent with us in the warm sunshine, and the patio door open, getting lots of pets, and kind words about how much we loved him. He was such a good boy. Peace. We had several affectionate names for our sweet boy, Kai-Kai, Little Lightin', Grey Ghost, Chick-a-bo Kid, and Little Guy, are just a few. Our hearts are broken. Love you forever, Gary and Jody,
