“ This girl was such a sass ball. All royalty from day 1 to the end. She loved her family and protected us fiercely from any door that opened! Lol. She loved snow! Loved to play and bury herself in it. I will miss her greatly.

“ Lady Mae Pullins was the sassiest, silliest, goofball of a corgi that anyone could own. She would hide her face in blankets, she would walk to the side of the porch because she insisted that spot was better to walk on than the middle of the porch, she would lay on her back with her paws in the air. She also had the personality of a queen, so her name ended up fitting her well. I guarantee if God gets up from his throne, Lady will be taking his spot and looking at him as if he was the problem (hahahaha). Lady Mae, you will be so missed. Mama loves you. Until we meet again, sweet girl.
