Accept my sympathy on the loss of your one and only Mac. Not seeing or touching them every day is unbearable but it slowly gets better. Keep him in your prayers, heart and mind and talk to him because he's watching over you. Rest well Mac.

“ I miss my wonderful faithful companion, Mac with all my heart. We rescued Mac at 6 months old from Chicago Animal Care & Control on New Year’s Day 2016. The time has gone too quickly. It seems like just yesterday he was a pup and now he is gone from our lives due to a horrible and silent killer of a genetic cancer of his spleen called Hemangiosarcoma. One day he is fine and the next day we are told he has internal bleeding and should be euthanized immediately. God must have needed some unconditional love that pierces your soul for someone needing a companion in heaven, so Mac had to report to the Rainbow Bridge immediately for duty. There is a huge hole in my heart remaining for my work at home assistant, my guard dog, my shadow, my food taste tester, my nighttime blanket stealer, my 5 second squeak toy destroyer, my squirrel and rabbit chaser, my foot warmer, my alarm clock, my everything. He brought more warmth and sunshine into our lives everyday with his love and concern for our every move we made. Always making sure we were ok. Thank you for gracing our lives for over 9 years. We will miss you forever, but we have some great memories to cling to. We will be reunited with you in due time. Wait for us and we will see you again! Love you, Mac
