“ Tundra was an amazing pet, friend, protector and caretaker. I have soooo many memories of him watching over Tom and his girls! He will forever be missed. My heart breaks that he is gone but it breaks even more for your family as you mourn for him. It was God's timing and like everything else that we don't understand, God has His reasons and we need to trust that no matter how hard it is, we will grow through the process and the pain. His ways are past our understanding, but are always for our good and growth. Give yourself time to grieve but remember, Tundra has given our families many great memories, so don't forget to revisit those as well. I love you and mourn his loss with you. 💜 I love you! Mom/ Grandma T.

“ The first time I met Tundra he wanted to let me know I was in his house. He was running around the apartment that Tom lived at and he stopped in front of me and lifted his leg and well you probably guessed it, he peed on me. When Tom got really sick him and Tundra moved in with us. I remember him always by Tom's side. I learned to love him and will always be grateful that I got an opportunity to be a part of his life. I still find his hair in parts of our house. He was a good loyal dog who loved it when I scratched his back and yelled at me if I gave Lana attention. We love and miss you Tundra.

“ I could go on for days about what Tundra did for not only me, but for our family as well. The ultimate protector. Always by the girls side while I was at work. He would jump into my spot in the bed when I got up in the morning. He would bark at any car door he heard close, or someone at the house door. My garage buddy. He was one of the few things in my life that I could count on ALWAYS. Spent more time at my feet in the bathroom than I care to admit. He loved to talk back and had to have to last word. He taught me patience. True loyalty, even with zero deserved grace. He was part of what got me through life changes and my sickness. He knew Ashley was pregnant with Peanut before we did. He would be so proud after getting groomed and would strut around with his bandana on. He loved to sunbathe even with all of his hair, yet absolutely loved rolling in the snow. He loved our road trips. He was so mild mannered and would let the kids crawl all over him and he didnt mind all of the extra table food from the kids either. You would be proud of Lana, she is picking up right where you left off buddy. I trust Gods plan and I cant wait to see you again. I am extremely grateful for my time with you.

“ Tundra was the most gentle and loving pet I’ve ever seen. He loved everyone and always had something to say. I would always have to give him treats when I came into the house and he took it ever so gentle. When I watched him with the kids he loved playing catch down the hallway. He was a soft fluff ball that I never minded the white dog hair on me. He will forever be missed by many people. My Heart goes out to my family the Tijerina’s.
